

Hispanic Historic Preservation Initiative

Miami Conversación

A Discussion about the Preservation of Hispanic Cultural Heritage in South Florida

Saturday
November 19, 2011

10:00 am–1:00 pm

Miami Beach Resort and Spa

4833 Collins Avenue
Miami Beach, Florida

Free—seating is limited.
Reservations required.

Please RSVP to either
Jorge L. Hernandez at Jorge@JLHArchitect.com or to Dade Heritage Trust at DadeHeritage@DHT.comcastbiz.net

The National Trust for Historic Preservation cordially invites you to the Miami Conversación, a discussion about the preservation of Hispanic cultural heritage and historic landmarks in South Florida. The Miami Conversación is one in a series of meetings taking place across the country exploring the influence of Hispanics on natural and cultural landscapes.

We want to hear from you. Share your views on what Hispanic places matter to you and your community, why preserving these sites is important and what we, the National Trust, and the Hispanic community can or should do to save these sites.

Please join us at this important gathering of Hispanic community and cultural leaders in Miami on Saturday, November 19, 2011.

Learn more about the cultural preservation resources that are available to protect our collective history, and help the National Trust gather a more global sense of places that matter to our Hispanic partners.

Photos clockwise from top left: TOWER THEATER COURTESY J LOPEZ RODRIGUEZ; PANORAMA: FREEDOM TOWER COURTESY DADE HERITAGE TRUST; CALLE OCHO FESTIVAL COURTESY SOUTHBEACH.COM; MIAMI MARINE'S STADIUM COURTESY HILARIO CANDELA; BACARDI BUILDING COURTESY WIKIPEDIA.ORG

NATIONAL TRUST FOR HISTORIC PRESERVATION®

THANKS TO
OUR COSPONSORS:

